He is aged 27 years. The does not appear to be any case for giving him a pay of Rs 50/- the maximum in the grade, which means the grant of five advance increments. There is also no stagnation in his case. As regards good work, the Service register shows that he has been fined three times during the short period of service

Mr C Y Zahiruddin first attracted notice by his perseverence and determination to get over obstacles when he had to enter on his college course Proverty was in his way and was almost an insurmountable obstacle in the way of higher studies considering that he came of an out of the way place, like channagiri and college course in Bangalore or Mysore involved expenditure which his kith and kin could not afford Any other student in his position would have discontinued his studies, but the young man with his persistence and inspite of discouraging rebutts, eventually succeeded in getting some individuals and institutions insersted in him to give him help which susbsequently events disclose has not been wasted, as it happens in several cases Mr Zahiruddin showed continued progress and the help was continued till he obtained his degree His conduct and character has been very satisfactory He has now to seek employment and I wish him success in it, particularly on account of his pluck and oneness of purpose already referred to as also on the ground that he cannot any more think of or afford to take up any professional course So far as I know him, he is a hardworking young man and has got grit to meet difficult situations
